MOMENT IN HISTORY

During the 1996 NCAA Tournament against UNC, Darvin Ham gained national attention by shattering the backboard on a slam dunk and making the cover of Sports Illustrated. The dunk shifted the momentum of the game and helped the Red Raiders finish the game and advance to the second Sweet Sixteen in school history. In the same year, Ham went on to win the NCAA slam dunk contest.

Congratulations to Patrick Mahomes on his Super Bowl victory and Super Bowl MVP title! Mahomes is the youngest youngest player to be named NFL MVP (2018) and win a Super Bowl in their career. Mahomes is also the youngest quarterback to be named Super Bowl MVP, a record previously held by Tom Brady. The first Cheifs Super Bowl Victory in 1970 also featured one of the greatest Red Raiders, EJ Holub. Congratulations, Pat!

Michael Crabtree, pictured here with current Red Raider QB, Alan Bowman, made his first trip back to Lubbock since being drafted in 2009. Crabtree attended the Red Raider's Big 12/SEC Challenge game vs. Kentucky on January 25th. Crabtree is not currently signed to an NFL team.
